MEET THE ZIGLERS...

by Cindy Kazee

The newest members of River View Yacht Club, Steve & Maura Zigler, are as varied as the four seasons they enjoy in their home town of South Lake Tahoe.

We met this fun couple and their adorable pug, Lilly, at our annual cruise-in to Commodore Island in July and inducted them into our club at our dinner meeting in August.

Steve works as a General Contractor for custom homes and small commercial business in South Lake Tahoe. Theirs is a family business as Maura keeps the books on the days she isn't caring for their two young grandchildren.

Steve and Maura have two grown kids, living in S. Lake Tahoe and Sacramento. The grandkids are 3 years and 9 months, and the baby especially keeps Maura on her toes, making it hard to find time for her gardening hobby!

After retiring, sometime in the next year and a half, the Ziglers are planning to explore the country in a land yacht, actually, an RV about half the size of their Delta-based yacht. Steve refers to the motor home as the "Ballpark Express," and explains that they hope to tour the United States by making visits to the major league ball parks across the country. (CONTINUED INSIDE)

COMMODORE REPORT

by Linda Champion

We had a wonderful dinner made by Bob and Diane Boal of BBQ pulled pork sandwiches, party potatoes and the most spectacular salad I've ever had. We had 23 for dinner and had a great time. September's dinner is our last Friday dinner and when we change nights, we hope to see a lot more faces.

The barge once again is at a steep angle, sitting on mud. The men are still working together to make us a proper and safe access to the clubhouse so it will be easier to enter. If a work party is necessary, when the time comes, please do all you can to help the men who are working so hard on this project.

I am sorry to report that Wayne Weaver's Dad passed away in early July and John Howard's close friend and a friend to the Club, Jim Clark, passed away last month also. Please keep these two families in your thoughts. Ron Hanlon, who just keeps challenging his doctors has had another health issue, but feels it is under control. I hope all is well with everyone else.

Our next dinner is Friday, September 15th, with the bar open at 4:30 and dinner served at 6:30. Being that the 2nd

Membership Report...

by Linda Champion

I am happy to say we have two new members in our Club, Steve and Maura Zigler. They joined us on our Cruiser Haven cruise and for the August dinner where they were sworn in as official members. If you haven't met them yet, then introduce yourselves when you see them. They are a wonderful addition to our Club.

Thanks to everyone who has been talking up the Club for new membership. Ron and Cookie Hanlon have three potential members who have yet to join us, but we are looking forward to meeting them. Please keep up the motivation. We all know what a wonderful Club we are and making new friends is part of our growth. If anyone needs applications, let me know and I will get them to you. Thanks.

Vice Commodore & Activities Report...

by Sherri Olson

Well, it was another fun dinner at the club, but with limited participation. We did welcome new members, and the Boals put on a great dinner.

Please remember our yard sale is October 14th. Save your good stuff! I have room for some items that can stay outside.

Please remember, next meeting and dinner is a raffle night. We do need donations of gifts, please be generous. I will be getting to the club, for meetings and dinners by 2:30 pm at the latest. Come early, I will be cleaning.

Hope I saw you at Martinez...always fun there!

Cruise Report...

by Linda Champion

Our cruise to Martinez YC August 25-27 should be in the books by the time you read this. I will tell you we had a spectacular time as we always do. We had hamburgers on Friday and fried chicken on Saturday. We had seven boats in attendance and 19 people. What a great turn out. I hope you all had a lot of fun.

Our next cruise is to the Driftwood YC on Sept. 29-October 1. Please note that this is the fifth weekend of the month due to scheduling conflicts with Driftwood. Driftwood is another great Yacht Club and has always been extremely hospitable to us. It has been a couple of years since we've been there; it is at the base of the Antioch bridge. I will have all of the cruise information for you soon.

When Steve and Maura have more time on their hands, they are thinking about tackling the "big water" by taking a trip out to Santa Cruz. The Pachanga is a sea-worthy vessel, a 44' Sea Ray convertible outfitted for sport fishing. Aptly named for a couple who are friendly hosts, Pachanga is Spanish for "party place." They found themselves to be the reluctant owners of two boats when they acquired Pachanga about 18 months ago. If you know anyone in the market for a super-clean 39' 1983 Sea Ray Sedan Bridge, contact Steve at stevenzigler@sbcglobal.net.

Besides traveling to the Delta for fun, the Ziglers also journey to a place in Baja, where Steve fishes for dorado. He recently found out that catching the fish is only part of the challenge. It seems the airlines "lost" 80 pounds of fish on the return trip. When we spoke at the August dinner, the cooler had been located, but the condition of the fish was yet unknown. He was optimistic that the fish were kept frozen. If not, that would be a sad new twist on the tale, "the one that got away."

Steve and Maura are long-time friends of the Champions, meeting on the docks at Tower Park. They are charter members of the Little Potato Cruising Club, but are looking to branch out by joining RVYC. Their friendship with Frank and Linda was recently renewed when Sea Champ moved to Rio Vista where Pachanga is docked. They found a whole new group of friends at River View and like the energy of our club and the different kind of cruising we do as a group.

We welcome Steve, Maura and Lilly to our club and look forward to many hours on the water with them.
